Key Verse

“How beautiful are the feet of those who bring good news!”
– Romans 10:15

Start: Wake Up!

Supplies:

- none

Invite your child for this time together:

- Play pretend that you are sleeping on the ground.
- Then shout, “Wake up!” and get your little one to pretend they are putting on their clothes (mime actions) and run out a door.
- Return and repeat.
- Let them know that this is what happened to a man named Peter in today’s story, but there is even more to his story!

Watch:

Watch this week’s video.

Prayer:

Write out prayers for help and thanks onto sticky notes. Choose a wall or special place in your home to stick them. Make these a visual reminder of what your family is praying and thankful for over the week or month.

Craft: Peter Activity Page

Supplies:

- Peter activity page
- Crayons or markers
- Stickers (optional)

Prep: print the activity page.

- Invite your child to decorate the activity page.
- Read the text on the page with them.
- As they decorate, talk about the Bible story.
- Ask them: What happened to Peter in today’s story? Who helped him? What job was Peter doing?
- Say, “Jesus gives us a job to do. We can tell others, ‘Jesus loves you!’”

Key Verse Activity

Hint:

Help your child know that the Good News is that Jesus came to show us God's love, rescue us from sin and teach us how to live and serve.

Help your child learn the Key Verse using the actions below:

"How [hold your hands palms up as if asking a question]
beautiful [point at your face and smile]
are the feet [stamp your feet]
of those [point to others]
who bring [pull your arms back in towards you] good news!" [pump your fists in the air]
Romans 10:15 [open hands like a book]
